

Professional statement

Fictional persona:

Kelechi Happiness Uzoma is a high school graduate and my strongest subjects in school were math and science. She enjoys learning and excelled in school. She likes creating spreadsheets to organize everyday tasks. She also likes analyzing complex tasks. I have passion for technology and enjoy helping others. I am interested in the field of security but have previous experience. I want an entry-level cybersecurity position that will utilize her drive and thirst for knowledge. She believes the Google Cybersecurity Certificate will make her a better candidate and will help her develop the professional skills she lacks.
